

Dear All,

Welcome to the first CSMD Newsletter of 2009. Already time seems to be flying by and we are already into February. This month we have updated some of our support system, to now include integrated Documentation, and we have news of the CSMD Sale which is still on. Read on to find out more.

New Style Documentation:

Over the past few months WJPS have been looking at ways to improve the documentation we produce for a number of our systems. As part of this we have developed a new documentation system which matches exactly with our requirements and makes documenting the software, and creating help manuals even easier than ever before. WJPS decided that CSMD would be the first major roll out of the new documentation system, and this has now been integrated into the CSMD Website. As you can see from the screenshot on the right of the page, the manual is now accessible from the support section of the website. The documentation is split into Topics, which explain how to carry out simple task, such as "Create a new playlist" and Forms, Dialogs and Controls which explains the different Forms, Dialogs and Controls you will see when using CSMD. Generally Topics link through to Form, Dialogs and Controls, hopefully making the Topic easier to follow and understand. Try it for yourself today at <http://www.csmd.co.uk/support.php?aid=4>, where you can view the CSMD Advanced 1.2 Manual in the new format, and How to Install CSMD Advanced. If you have any feedback or comments on this new system we would like to hear from you. At the moment we will continue to produce the manuals as we have before as well, and over time add more documentation to the system.

Sale Still On!!

As I'm sure you will have noticed most stores have are continuing their sales early, and so are we for new and existing customers. From now until the end of March 2009 you can get 25% of any purchase by using the following code:

CSMD0925

Simply enter this as the checkout when you are purchasing your copy of CSMD, or CSMD Advance and 25% will be deducted from the total price of the product.

Well that's the end of another newsletter, We look forward to hearing from you if you have any comments good or otherwise. Until next time....
