April 2007 News Letter

Dear All,

Welcome to CSMD's Aprils Newsletter. The last month has been extremely busy and unfortunately we have had to spend time on some of our other projects rather than CSMD. However we still have some exciting upgrades coming shortly. Read on to find out more.

CSMD Upgrades:

CSMD Advanced has been a great success and attracted more customers to our product than we imagined it would, and also many loyal customers have upgraded once they have seen the major benefits of CSMD Advanced over the original and standard version of CSMD. Even so we still held back a few tricks up our sleeves and are adding these to the system as we speak. The new features include a Playlist Validator which checks all the tracks in the playlist are valid before loading the playlist, this saves on those embarrassing moments when you realise you have re-name or accidentally deleted a track, and the system refuses to play it. Another useful addition is the AutoNext feature, this allows you to setup tracks so that once they finish playing the next track starts without the need to press play again. Other useful features allow you to add a folder at a time with all the tracks in you need for a show. Obviously the settings for each track will be left at default, but it saves on having to choose each track, and speeds up playlist generation. Moving on from this some users have said that they would find it useful to be able to import .m3u playlists from applications such as Windows Media Player, and export to these files as well so that you can create playlist backups on to CD.

These upgrades are currently been written and should be appear as a Beta in the near future. Because these are just changes to the core system there will be no charge and we will recommend that customers upgrade once it has been fully released.

If you have any problems with the software please don't hessitate to get in touch with our support team, support@wjps.co.uk.

CSMD Portable Beta:

Last month you may remember we released CSMD Portable Beta. The tests on this have been succesful, but at the moment we have decided not to release it, and carry out some more in-house testing. Although the product functions well, and has a lot of potential there are a few little niggles with the way it registers a few bits and pieces. Once we have ironed these out we will get back to you with an update, and possible a second Beta. As you know we pride ourselves on the quality of this product and aim to provide the best possible product always. Unfortunatly in this case we are not completely happy with the products quality, so are unable to release it.

If you tried the Beta we would love to hear from you and find out if you encountered any problems at all.

Pictures of your setup or you using our software?

The other week a few of us were chatting over lunch and looking at some photos, this made us think how it would be nice and a good laugh to see some of our customers using our software. So if you have any pics, no matter how silly or serious of you using CSMD then we would love to see them, if we get a few we might even consider setting up a gallery of users. Email your photos to james.proctor@wjps.co.uk with a little description explaining the picture, if it isn't already self explanatory. Just to get you going here is a picture of the setup we had in the early days while testing the software before its release.

Please don't forget that you can download our free demo software from the website at any time. Why not tell your friends about it, they might find it just as useful as you do. We're so confident that you will like our software that our demo is fully operational, except it is time-limited to 15 minutes. We feel this gives you an opportunity to explore the software fully, and try out all of the great features. P.S. Demos of CSMD and CSMD Advanced are now available.

Well that's the end of another full newsletter, over the next few weeks we will be perfecting CSMD Advanced Upgrades and have it ready for release soon, we will let you all know when this is, so keep a look out!

Until next time,

Kind Regards
